

QUEENSLAND COMMUNITY RENEWABLES FORUM

FORUM NEBO - THURSDAY 28 NOVEMBER

Exhibitor opportunity

Queensland aims to be a leader in the responsible development of sustainable, reliable and cost-effective energy as part of the transition to renewables.

The next Queensland Community Renewables Forum will be held in Nebo, where communities, industry and government are coming together to have conversations about what this nation-building energy transition means for the local area.

The Queensland Community Renewables Forum provide an opportunity for a shared understanding of the decades-long benefits ahead for communities as well as the ways in which impacts will be managed.

The Nebo event will comprise displays from local renewable energy developers and presentations from a range of speakers from the energy, agriculture, academic and government sectors.
